Local Firm Removes Complexities of Real Estate Investing Everyday People to Benefit From New Investment Coaching Service

PLANO, TX – November 8, 2004 – Supplementing household income through investing is a common topic today and Laurex Investment Coaching is offering North Texans a proven way to generate passive income through real estate.

Knowing that many people want to invest in real estate but simply do not have the time or knowledge, Laurex Investment Coaching provides a way for those people to generate additional income. Through its patent-pending coaching system, trained professionals act as a “financial planner” for real estate investments on a client’s behalf.

For the individual investor, the goal of Laurex Investment Coaching is to generate passive income while not having to give up valuable time. All the transactions and details are handled and managed by professionals. The service is focused on providing timely, accurate information while ensuring value and performance through disciplined activity and defined results.

“There are legalities and processes in real estate investing that the average person may never learn,” said Alex Johnson, president and founder of Laurex Investment Coaching. “We give our clients the ability to supplement their income with investments while continuing with their busy lives.”

Laurex Investment Coaching also provides a free ‘Strategies & Tips’ e-newsletter to learn more about real estate investing or other investments. The e-newsletter can be obtained at LaurexNewsletter.com.

Laurex Investment Coaching is an affiliate of Laurex Group, Inc. Laurex Group, Inc. is a service company that provides offerings to support the investor of real estate.
